

INTRODUCING THE NEW CROWN BADGE FOR THE POLICE REMEMBRANCE TRUST

To mark the merger of National Police Memorial Day with The Police Roll of Honour Trust

The charity's new crown badge as 'The Police Remembrance Trust' was designed and granted by The Lord Lyon who is responsible for the granting of new arms to persons or organisations, and for confirming proven pedigrees and claims to existing arms.

The King's royal cypher sits in the middle of the national symbols for each country in the United Kingdom: the rose for England, the leek for Wales, the thistle for Scotland and the shamrock for Northern Ireland. Books depicting the Police Roll of Honour sit alongside each of the four national symbols.

As well as maintaining National Police Memorial Day, other priorities for the new Police Remembrance Trust is to build on the efforts already in progress to establish a Welsh Police Memorial, and to continue working in partnership with the new UK Digital Police Memorial.

This marks a new era for UK police memorial charities and the Police Remembrance Trust firmly believes that recognising bravery, commitment, integrity, dedication and sacrifice is a great reflection of the vast majority of those involved in policing today. Affirming their role and telling their stories can be part of the solution to the issues they and the service currently face.

Together we can build on their vision, work and commitment. To all who have been involved with National Police Memorial Day and the Police Roll of Honour Trust we are grateful for your support over the years and invite you to remain on this journey with us with continuing commitment and enthusiasm.

ONLINE TRIBUTE WALL NOW OPEN

We've been hosting an online tribute wall now for the past three years - a place where everyone can go to post photos and memories of their loved ones in the lead up to National Police Memorial Day.

Please post your tributes on our website here as well as supporting and sharing on social media.

Our sincere thanks to NARPO for sponsoring the tribute wall.

National Police Memorial Day is a time for us to remember the ultimate sacrifice that many have made to keep this country safe.

Every single day the police put their lives at risk to protect us, and we must not forget these daily acts of courage and bravery.

I look forward to being in Cardiff in September so I can join the families and colleagues who have lost loved ones in the line of duty and remember their service to this country.

Policing Minister Chris Philp
